

ASAC PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Monday, June 07, 2021

Good morning! It is the week of June 7, 2021. Kids are home for the summer, families are planning vacation, flowers and vegetable gardens are planted and construction is thinking about summer schedules, safety considerations and transitioning to a post COVID work environment, our 'inbox' is never empty. Not complaining, quite the opposite, I am happy to have a to do list and fortunate to be looking ahead.

As we look ahead to July 4th, I want to remind you that in our history it was the month of June that the Continental Congress created the committee to draft a Declaration of Independence. You know the committee members. Their work resulted in a final draft of the Declaration on June 28th and was submitted to the continental Congress for approval. What a task to be accomplished and was done not by one individual, but by a group of individuals who were different in their political philosophies and priorities but who were united by the desire to be independent and a free people. I'll talk more about this during the month, but know that June 11, 1776, a plan was put in motion that would change the course of human history.

At ASAC we are looking forward to the 36th Annual Awards in the Park on June 19. We have calculated the votes, notified the finalists and putting final plans to the awards presentation. Take a minute and check out the finalists in each of the Construction Industry and Women of Construction categories included in this issue of the President's Message.

Looking ahead, there are dates, important dates that you need to get on your calendar. When you are adding vacation, soccer and baseball games to your calendar be sure to include the 2021 Rocky Mountain Safety Conference, October 12 & 13. The Conference is presented in partnership with ASAC and Colorado Safety Association. A two-day conference, Day One is in person and will include keynote speaker Ross Bernstein, award winning sportswriter of over 50 sports books. Ross has been featured on CNN, CBS This Morning, ESPN and Fox News and has delivered keynotes on all seven continents. Ross will open the conference with "Wearing the C: Leadership Lessons from the Greatest Captains and Coaches in Sports." The day will include health and safety presentations and vendor show. Day 2 is all virtual and will offer training and education for your team. Again, October 12 & 13, more information to follow.

October 28, 2021, ASAC will launch a program of the ASAC Attorney's Council and a signature benefit for ASAC Subcontractor Members Only, Construction Risk Management Exchange a discussion of contracts, customers, cost and cash. I have featured the dates in previous issues of this publication and the dates can be found on the ASAC website calendar of events.

In closing, I would like to remind you to look for something positive in each day, even if some days you must look a little harder. Get registered for the ASAC Awards in the Park and make it a good week.
